Top 10 Scams Targeting the Elderly Watch out for these scams that target seniors, from overly eager doctors to phony check-up visits. The web of fraud and scammers seems like a twisted maze of digital trickery. And for seniors, the maze can feel all too real. The federal government says the "elder financial exploitation epidemic" is growing at an "alarming rate." Worse yet, scammers are able to use the social media and messaging platforms that seniors use to communicate to stay one step ahead of the law. A recent study found that three quarters of older adults have had unwanted contact with a stranger online. That's a scary statistic that helps to explain why so many seniors fall prey to social engineering scams, which has the potential to bankrupt them. What to look out for when your online identity is compromised A recent survey by the American Association of Homes and Services for the Aging found that senior scams are the second most common online identity theft on the rise, and the most common are scams involving fraudulent IRS tax notices or levies. There's just one catch: When it comes to identity theft, there's no such thing as a free lunch. But scammers know this. They'll drop a social engineering scam -- a case of mistaken identity that can be as simple as someone pretending to be your grandchild and wanting to know if you want to receive a tax refund -- at your front door 1d6a3396d6

Anti-Spam Blacklist Thing

Anti-Spam Blacklist Thing is a powerful, customizable tool that enables you to easily query up to 20 different anti-spam blacklists. It lets you find out which ones to use for your particular setup. It will also tell you which IPs or networks have been on the blacklist lately, which ones are new to it, and which ones are available. It is very easy to use. The anti-spam blacklists that you specify are treated as lists of IP addresses. You can retrieve information about the IPs in your query by using the Output-IP header in your emails. Anti-Spam Blacklist Thing will always show you the source, date, time, size, and rate limits of your anti-spam blacklists. The tool can be downloaded as a zip file. It can be installed on a local machine, a Unix server, or a Windows machine that can access the Internet. Each list is called a "blacklist" and the tool works with up to 20 of them. There are 2 standard ways of using the tool: "Use a blacklist manually" - in this mode, you can use the tool to query the blacklist from the command line. For example, to query the SPF (Spam Prevention Filter) blacklist, run the following command: example C:\> smtp.exe -q -f "C:\myspf.txt" In this case, the command line will start to type in a list of addresses and then stop when it's finished.

"Use a blacklist automatically" - in this mode, the tool starts, queries the specified list, and then stops. For example, to query a list automatically, run the following command: example C:\> smtp.exe -b -f "C:\myspf.txt" The tool queries the list and then stops. To save the results to a file, use the "-o" switch. For example: example C:\> smtp.exe -b -
