New Version: Our third and final journey to the world of Pan-Pan is done and dusted. This adventure took years of our time and so much of our money, but it ended up being such a fun (and epic!) fun ride. If you've already played the previous Pan-Pan adventures then you know what to expect in this one. A quick note for those who've never played Pan-Pan. This is the third and final edition of our third adventure. So you'll first find yourself in a new world in the first part of the game then explore it for a few hours in the second part and finally navigate its mysterious ruins in a third part. New content: The Earth in Pan-Pan has been made a lot more immersive and a lot more interesting. The market has been expanded and made a bit more lively with new curiosities and new NPCs. Additionally, new quests have been added for you to tackle, and new room and dungeon layout. Instead of the old style (more or less) underground exploring we now have a very exciting story and the ability to fly around in clouds on elevated rocks. Furthermore, there is no more player-character focus and you are now on an island. You can walk around as you please but you never get more than a short distance from any shore. The destination and intent of the adventure are the same as the previous two, i.e. to find Ada. Still we had enough new story as well as new NPCs and quests to keep you busy for quite a while.

About this New Theme: The Earth in Pan-Pan is not just about the nugget. What you'll find here is more than just a bunch of nuggets. There are different types of nuggets, of course, and many different ways to use them for different purposes. You might find a planar nugget and, once you have one, you can use it to get anywhere in the world of Pan-Pan. You can use it to get to an inhabited area, to a dungeon or even to a world. Furthermore, you can collect different materials that are found in these dungeons and use them to craft a new nugget. If you're lucky enough you might find a nugget in a dungeon that's priceless and so you have to be careful. You'll always have to watch yourself as there are thieves in this world,
